

Moving ahead with MTS and Cornhill

This booklet has been designed to give you a basic understanding of what it means to become an MTS Apprentice (with Cornhill Sydney) and take the first step into full time Christian ministry work.

Cornhill in London has a proven track record over the last twenty years in giving people the input, training and opportunities required to develop as exceptional preachers of God's Word. Cornhill Sydney has looked to bring that approach to our context over the last four years.

If you are interested in proceeding further we suggest that you contact MTS and Cornhill Sydney. They will help you to determine the best way forward.

MTS APPRENTICE (CORNHILL) PATHWAY

The MTS Apprentice (Cornhill) Pathway

At MTS we think that a ministry apprenticeship combined with formal theological education is a great way to train for a lifetime of Gospel ministry.

The MTS curriculum is designed to help you work out how you are wired and where you might plug in to grow God's Kingdom in the future. An MTS Apprenticeship is a great way to work out a person's suitability for ministry work in the future.

The Apprentice (Cornhill) pathway provides the opportunity for an apprentice to undertake their ASTC (Academic Studies in Theology Certificate) in a face-to-face teaching environment, presented and facilitated by Cornhill Sydney.

Prospective apprentices interested in the Apprentice (Cornhill) Pathway are encouraged to apply for an MTS Apprentice Scholarship offered to enable the scholarship recipient to undertake the ASTC presented and facilitated by Cornhill Sydney.

Cornhill Sydney

The Cornhill component of the apprenticeship offers specialised training in effectively understanding and teaching God's Word, with a focus on the vital task of preaching. The course includes face to face input from experienced preachers (including Simon Manchester, David Peterson, Chase Kuhn, Luke Tattersall, Archie Poulos, Gavin Perkins and Justin Moffatt), and also the opportunity to deliver almost thirty talks over the two years, in a class-room setting with structured and wise feedback.

Cornhill provides valuable input to ministry apprentices, and also provides an excellent pathway into further theological education and training.

WHAT BEING AN APPRENTICE INVOLVES

"If a person wants to be a farmer long term, they don't start off at Agricultural College as a first port of call. They need to head off first to a farm and work alongside an experienced farmer for a couple of years. They need to live through a couple of cycles of the seasons. They need to know what it is like to deliver lambs in the middle of the night, harvest the grain before it is destroyed by rain and grapple with the blurred boundaries between work and rest."

Ben Pfahlert, MTS Director

The MTS Apprentice

Being an MTS apprentice through Cornhill Sydney involves a two year program combining biblical and theological study focused on preaching, with the opportunity to gain wider ministry experience in evangelism, discipleship and pastoral care, all under the leadership of a trainer.

MTS has developed an apprentice curriculum that has both compulsory and optional elements. It is a flexible curriculum that can be adapted to an apprentice's context.

The MTS Apprentice Curriculum grows leaders in 8 learning areas:

- | | |
|------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| 1. Bible Study | 5. Evangelism and World Mission |
| 2. Thinking Theologically | 6. Teaching the Bible |
| 3. Prayer and Godliness | 7. Train Others in Ministry |
| 4. Relationships in Ministry | 8. Leadership |

You will be required to complete the MTS Apprentice Curriculum over the two years.

MTS Scholars do a 37.5 hours (per week) placement in a church or ministry. The MTS curriculum and ASTC (delivered by Cornhill Sydney) will take 12 hours (1.5 days) of the 37.5 hour (5 day) week.

THE APPRENTICE: LEARNING THE WAY

SAM WALLACE

Laneway Church, Footscray

How did you come to do MTS?

As a church we were getting behind Josh and Sarah Allen as they prepared to plant a new church in Footscray, Melbourne. Through the encouragement of my pastor, my wife and I decided to leave Wollongong to be part of the church plant and to do my MTS apprenticeship there. We knew we would be giving up a lot and taking on many challenges, but as we prayed about it we came to see it as an amazing opportunity for growth and training for our future.

What's something you've learnt?

Josh is a great trainer with such awe for God's Word, who relates to people with humility and compassion. I have felt in safe hands as he disciples me and shows me how to be a servant of the church. I've learnt that you can't just be a relayer of truth like some sort of robot who presents cold facts from the Bible. God's Word doesn't just address the intellect, it grips the heart. So the way we convey that and try to make truth come to bear on peoples' lives is through warm, genuine relationship.

How are you being stretched by your apprenticeship?

Not only am I going through a time of huge transitions and new beginnings – being newly married, moving to a new place, starting a new job – but so is my church! I don't really know what I'm doing. I'm not setup. I don't have much experience, but neither does my church! It is a unique and exciting experience because of the openness of all the ministry opportunities. But we're not alone in the deep end – I have my trainer and resources to guide me and my church has support from other churches and organisations. What is most stretching is the level of creativity and proactivity required to do my role well. I am someone who has no trouble following orders for what to do and how/when to do it. But in this role I need to create opportunities to meet people, I need to think up strategies for how our church runs (like; Should we run a church membership course? How should it be run? When? Who will run it? ...) I'm not just taking control of a well-oiled machine and making sure it keeps moving forward, I'm a part of designing the machine and trying to get it off the ground.

THE TRAINER: LEADING THE WAY

JOSHUA ALLEN

Laneway Church, Footscray

What are the rewards and challenges of training an MTS Apprentice?

One of the joys is seeing my apprentice, Sam, sacrificially serving Jesus. He and his wife, Carmel, uprooted their lives and moved interstate, to a very different place. They are cross-cultural missionaries in Australia, having left family and friends for the sake of the lost coming to Christ. What an encouragement serving Jesus alongside these guys!

It's also challenging as a ministry leader – I'm conscious that I'm not just a theory trainer, but someone who models following Jesus in all of life. Apart from being a husband and dad, nothing pushes me to watch my life and doctrine closer than having an apprentice who will consciously and subconsciously pick up on how I live.

How have you seen your MTS Apprentice's skills develop?

You should have seen the first time we did a walk-up together in Footscray mall! I was leading and it was a mess... These three Muslim guys from Sudan made us feel lucky just to get out of the conversation. But I've seen Sam continue to meet strangers and move conversations to Jesus with growing confidence and skill. He goes out on his own and with other people from the team, chats with people from all over the world, and manages to get quite a few 'second dates'. He's working hard following up about 10 people who could at best be described as apathetic towards Jesus. I've seen him learn to manage himself and his time when his responsibilities entirely involve starting something from nothing. I've seen him devoted to prayer and reading large sections of the Bible. All in the first six weeks!

Why should someone consider doing an MTS Apprenticeship?

An MTS apprenticeship helps form and test a person's convictions, character and competence, with the feedback of their trainer. MTS focuses you on leading people to Christ and equipping them for ministry. It instils a training and multiplication DNA that enables you to lead ministries beyond your own personal limitations. You learn to draw together a network of ministry partners who will pray and give with you towards Gospel ministry. Most importantly, an apprenticeship teaches you failure in a supported space, and in failure, teaches you that there is one God and Saviour and it's not you. So an apprenticeship throws you into a joyful, prayerful dependence on God to move in people's lives through his Spirit-empowered word. That's great training for any type of future ministry.

WORKING WITH YOUR TRAINER

MTS' biblical blueprint for ministry training is based on spiritual parenthood... growing children of faith (1 Tim 1:2).

The outcome of the MTS Apprenticeship is dependant on the relationship between you and your trainer. As a MTS Apprentice you will be assigned to a workplace (which is a MTS approved training centre) where your MTS accredited trainer will look after you.

Trainers are expected to not just minister 'to' their apprentice but to minister 'with them'. Your trainer will invest into your life and ministry.

In return, you will be asked to commit to the following:

MTS Apprentice's Commitment to the Trainer:

- Respect the wisdom and advice of your trainer
- Meet with your trainer (at the agreed times) and to be adequately prepared for each meeting
- Conscientiously attend to your ministry responsibilities and study obligations
- Attend the G8 Conference (National Gathering of Apprentices)

MTS Trainer's Commitment to the Apprentice

- Care, guide, teach and walk beside your apprentice through all stages of their spiritual journey
- Provide feedback, encouragement and correction to your apprentice
- Train apprentices in accordance with the MTS Apprentice approved curriculum
- Meet with the apprentice at the frequency agreed upon and for the period of time agreed upon
- Develop detailed Ministry Development Plans for the apprentice every 6 months
- Attend the MTS Training Days and events as required

USEFUL INFORMATION

Is an MTS Apprentice really a Cadetship?

Yes, but the image of the master craftsman imparting hard-earned pearls of wisdom to their apprentices, captures the essence of MTS ministry preparation training.

MTS Training Centres

The MTS training centre is the church or the organisation where the ministry apprenticeship takes place. The training centre needs to provide the apprentice with a trainer for the duration of the apprenticeship and to enfold the apprentice into its community.

The training centre is also responsible for ensuring that you are equipped for all the tasks you will need to carry out, including support raising.

MTS Scholarships

MTS Team Leader Apprentice Scholarships start on the 1st of January and completes on 31st December of the following year.

Scholarship commencement is dependant upon Semester 1 ASTC fees and the demonstrated capacity to maintain a funding buffer of four scholarship payments.

Government Assistance

The ASTC (Academic Studies in Theology Certificate) presented and facilitated by Cornhill Sydney (on behalf of the Timothy Partnership) has been approved for Austudy and Youth Allowance support.

Please note that while the ASTC course may be eligible for student support from the government, the apprentice must also meet the government's eligibility criteria for Austudy or Youth Allowance support.

Where an apprentice does not qualify for government support, the training centre has the option to increase the value of the scholarship awarded (this assumes a commensurate increase in donations).

ALL FOR THE KINGDOM BY BEN PFAHLERT & KATIE OMROD

A very practical and realistic tool for those that the Holy Spirit is prompting to pursue full time gospel ministry.

We recommend that if you are considering becoming an MTS Apprentice, read and consider these books.
